James Sanderson, Complainant, AGAINST
Catherine F. McCall; and John Creighton and William Gilham, the two last under the firm of John Creighton & Company, Defendants.

THE defendant Catherine F. McCall not having entered her appearance and given security according to the statute and the rules of this court, and it appearing to the satisfaction of the court, upon affidavit, that the said defendant, Catherine F. McCall, is not an inhabitant of this District—on motion of the said complainant, by his counsel, it is ordered, That the said defendant, Catherine F. McCall, do appear here on the first day of the next Term, and enter her appearance to the suit, and give security for performing the decrees of the court; and that the other defendants, John Creighton & Company, do not pay away, convey or secrete, the debts by them owing to, or the estate or effects in their hands belonging to the said absent defendant Catherine F. McCall, until the further order or decree of this court; and that a copy of this order be forthwith published for two months successively in one of the public newspapers published in this county; and that another copy be posted at the front door of the court-house of the said county.

PROPOSALS
BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES;

To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IT seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that "these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it behoves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—It is not the object of the present attempt, to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unsparing panegyric, so often and so falsely dignified with the name of Biography: we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a developement of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the meditated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history: finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with fac-similes of the signatures, will bring into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.

II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.

Exchange Coffee-House, at Havana.

JAMES BRISS, the director of this important mercantile establishment in the great commercial town of the Havana, takes this method of informing the Supercargoes, Masters of vessels, and all other persons trading to the above port, that he has opened on the 5th February 1819, under the protection of Royal Tribunal Consulado, and the approbation of his own government, "The New and Elegant Exchange House," on a plan that would do honor to any of the large sea towns of the United States of America. It is intended for the accommodation of merchants, natives, and foreigners, and likewise for captains of vessels and strangers, arriving every day in commercial and agricultural pursuits.—The house is situated in an airy part of the town, No. 7, Calle del Obispo, opposite the southern wing of the Governors' Palace. The building is commodious, having four large rooms elegantly furnished: besides that of the subscribers there is one for the use of non-residents. They will find American, English and French newspapers, price currents, pamphlets, charts, and maps—lists of vessels arrived, those about to sail, and the time of their clearances, and other interesting matter for the commercial world. The proprietor therefore will be extremely happy to see masters of vessels, supercargoes, and passengers soon after their arrival.

In order to render this infant establishment more useful and interesting, the proprietor begs leave to request them to procure several newspapers of the places of their departure—and to report the news they may get on their passages; and at the same time requests them to call one hour before their departure sailing from the above port to procure the shipping list, price current, or other news of commercial nature, which the said James Briss, will be happy to furnish them with.

It is well to observe that there is a bar room for refreshments, but not billiard tables, or any other kind of amusements are allowed. March 9.

EXCHANGE BANKING HOUSE, AND BROKER'S OFFICE,
Bridge-street, Georgetown.

THIS is intended as a permanent establishment, and the community will find it one of the greatest conveniences in the United States, and of great public utility. At this house the fair exchange on the different bank notes from every part of the union can at all times be had: It is to be hoped that, by the operations of this office, the community will get rid of a host of Shilocks, Shavers, Secret and Running Brokers, who infest the District, frequently proclaiming the failure of country solvent banks, for the express purpose of purchasing the notes of such institutions at great discounts. Business under the following heads will be transacted. This establishment possesses funds to negotiate for any amount, and all business done for cash.

1st. All bank checks, bills at sight, post notes not due, and bank notes from all parts of the United States, bought and sold.

2d. All notes, bills of exchange, dividends and interests, collected and remitted according to orders.

3d. The notes of the United States' bank and all of its branches received at par.

4th. Strangers, citizens, and others, may deposit current money for safe keeping—and if left for thirty days, or longer, will receive at the rate of six per cent. per annum for the same.

5th. All business in the line of a money broker promptly attended to for a small commission.

6th. All southern and western traders, bringing to the district large sums of southern and western bank notes, can deposit for safe keeping, and draw for the same as may suit their convenience.

7th. Prompt attention paid to the orders of all respectable brokers and exchange offices throughout the United States—who will please to favor me occasionally with their rates of exchange on bank notes and bills. Georgetown, Dec. 9

Exchange & Broker's Office,
Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

To the Public.

AN unusual sensibility has been excited in the minds of our countrymen by the copper plate engraving of the Declaration of Independence recently published, accompanied by fac-similes of the signatures of those illustrious patriots who framed the document by which our independence was announced to the world. We feel, while we dwell on those signatures, as if we were ushered into the immediate presence of characters so exalted, and we seem for a time to participate in all the emotion which they felt on the approach of so awful a crisis—Hostile armies, desolate fields, towns and cities in conflagration—carnage and death in its most frightful forms apeared in prophetic vision on the one hand, and more than all, the complicated horrors, ignominy and slavery were presented for their acceptance on the other; they deliberated, they paused, they trembled, and at last solemnly appealing to the God of battles, they resolved that the United States were and ought to be free, sovereign and independent. These illustrious patriots, with five solitary exceptions, have now mingled with the common mould—they survive only in their country's glory and in the recollection of a grateful people. But it would be consoling to the present generation, separated as they now are from those patriots, by the intervention of the tomb, to become more intimately acquainted with their revolutionary benefactors. We love to dwell on the features of such men, snatched by the pencil from the oblivion of the grave, and emulate the prominent feats of their biography. Impressed with these ideas, the subscriber proposes, if suitable encouragement is given, to publish the lives of those patriots in numbers, until the whole is completed. The work will be executed in a style not inferior to any European productions, and the portraits by masters of acknowledged merit. The biography will be written by Paul Allen, esq. whose intimacy with the several signers, whose familiarity with the privations and hardships they had to undergo, and whose well known talents will be sufficient to ensure the patronage of an enlightened people. In the execution of this work, all that the publisher dares to promise is, that he will endeavor to deserve the confidence of his countrymen, and that no exertion on his part will be wanting to prevent an abuse of that confidence. He ventures to solicit the assistance of those gentlemen in possession of authentic facts and anecdotes, by communicating the intelligence that will serve to illustrate the characters and to enrich the biography of those founders of the American Republic.—Those who are in possession of their portraits would enlarge the obligation by a loan of the same.

A prospectus with the terms will be given in a few days.

The National Register

IS a paper which is published, every Saturday, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, and each number contains sixteen pages octavo, in small but very legible type. It makes two volumes in the year; and every volume is accompanied with a copious index. The price per annum is five dollars, payable in advance. The Public Documents, both foreign and domestic; the proceedings of Congress, and authentic news of every description, are regularly inserted therein, and accompanied by critical and explanatory remarks. Its value is also enhanced by occasional reviews of literary works; and all its sentiments are decidedly American, independent of all party considerations. For this work, which is well established, regularly published, and transmitted weekly to subscribers by the mail, the public patronage is respectfully solicited.

GENERAL JACKSON'S VINDICATION.

STRICTURES ON MR. LACOCK'S REPORT ON THE SEMINOLE WAR.

(Concluded.)

To destroy the scattered parties in West Florida, capt. Boyles, with two companies of rangers, was ordered to scour the country, and his gallantry and success are well known.

In page 7, of the Report, there is a sentence calculated to induce a belief that the terms of capitulation were forcibly imposed upon the Governor and garrison of Pensacola. These terms were proposed by the Governor himself, before surrendering the Barrancas; and were fully acceded to, except in such points as affected the security of the occupancy; and the objects of the campaign.

It was unnecessary to remark that Gen. Jackson abolished the revenue laws of Spain (p. 6.) The capitulation engaged for the transportation of all the officers of government, civil and military, to Havana. What then became of their revenue laws? The governor virtually abolished them himself.

It is not a fact that all the officers of the new government were military men. The emporary governor, Col. King, is an officer of the army: but civil officers were appointed in the different departments from among citizens, and M. M'Kenzie, a native of Mobile, was placed at the head of the magistracy. The civil rights of the inhabitants were secured to them; and, in some instances, particular privileges of individuals were held sacred, which were totally repugnant to the nature of our political institutions.

In the 9th page of the report, there is a remark that before general Jackson could make a hostile movement on the Spanish possessions, they must have "opposed him by physical, not moral force." It is not easy to understand this distinction, but I presume the committee mean by moral force, the use of persuasion and instigation among the Indians, and furnishing them with arms and ammunition. If the use of such a "moral force" is not to be opposed and avenged, without an infraction of natural law, and the constitution, in what a situation are we placed? The adoption of such a principle, forever puts a stop to frontier emigration, and the proud spread of our hardy population.

It declares to the enterprising settler of the wilderness, that it is illegal to protect him from Indian incursion; and it says to the infamous emmissaries of Britain: Your safety is now secure; go among our Indians, and, by gold and superstition, spirit them to reiterate outrage, deluge our frontier in blood; we dare not touch you; standing under the shelter of our constitution, your punishment would be a stab to the liberties of our country.

In regard to General Jackson's order to General Gaines to occupy St. Augustine, it is only necessary to say, that it was issued in conformity to the same principle which governed the general in all his movements in Florida, viz; That where the Spaniards identified themselves with the Indians, by arming or sheltering them, they were to be treated as enemies in our own defence; one of the most sacred necessities imposed on man.

In page 11, the committee ask, "If these things are admitted in the South, will not they be considered as authorised in the North?" I answer, yes.

It is needless to remark on that part of the report which regards the execution of Arbuthnot and Ambrister. The committee admit, "that having left their country and united their fate with savages with whom the United States were at war, they forfeited their claim to the protection of their own government, and subjected themselves to the same treatment, which ought, according to the principles and practice of the American government, to be extended towards those with whom they were associated." If their crimes merited punishment, (and where in the catalogue of depravity, can we find a blacker crime than the excitement of savages to butcher women and children?) And the civil power of our country had no jurisdiction over their acts, it remains only to state that general Jackson had the right and the power to execute the law of nature and nations upon them. If the two great points are admitted; the guilt of the prisoners and the power of the general, what object have we in cavilling at the mode of their trial?—An error in the formal part of the proceedings would not have proved the innocence of the accused, and of course could not vitiate the whole transaction. If the conduct of these men had been such as was imputed to them, their death was richly merited; and it is even admitted, that general Jackson in punishing such monsters, erred in formalities, the establishment of their guilt and the application of the corrective, not only consummated his duty, but repaired all the insubstantial defeats which might have given impunity to crime.

To conclude—these remarks are presented to the world from a deep conviction, that the report of the committee not only does the greatest injustice to general Jackson, but in its character and tendency is destructive of our dearest rights. Every citizen of the republic is wanting in duty to his country who does not solemnly protest against so novel and unconstitutional a proceeding. If inquisitorial investigations can be instituted into the character of individuals, at the will of the legislative branch of our government, why did the great framers of our constitution give us a judiciary and executive? If the Senate can assume the judicial and executive functions, why may not the President usurp the legislative power? If such a precedent is acquiesced in by the honorable body from one of whose committee it emanated; it is greatly to be feared, that such an usurpation will be infinitely more dangerous than the open efforts of ambition, even when supported by the licentiousness of standing armies.

Washington, March 5, 1819.

P.S. It has been intimated that some gentlemen of the committee have expressed regret, that all the facts on the subject of their enquiry had not been obtained before they made their report. No excuse is left them for not procuring all the facts; for general Jackson stated to one of the select committee that he was willing to appear before them as a witness and expose to them all the documents in his possession. It should be recollected that the general himself furnished the copy of his order to general Gaines respecting the seizure of St. Augustine.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

Arrived in Hampton Roads yesterday forenoon, the fast sailing ship Virginia, captain Fisher, in 37 days from Liverpool.—To the usual polite attention of capt. F. we are indebted for Liverpool papers to the 27th, and London to the 29th of January, being nearly a month in advance of former dates; having received them, however, at a late hour last night, our extracts from them are, for the present, necessarily limited. But except the royal speech, which we have copied, we do not discover in them any intelligence of much moment.

The parliament commenced its session on the 21st of January.

The papers announce the death of the queen of Wirtemburg, and Maria Theresa, of Parma, consort of Charles IV. of Spain, and mother of Ferdinand VII.

A Liverpool article says, "It was expected that the speech from the throne would have been spoken by the regent in person; but on account of its being necessary to revert to the death of the queen, and to other family calamities, his royal highness preferred turning that duty over to commission, and to remain himself in private at Brighton."

The famous Mr. Hunt has again come upon the stage. He lately appeared at a popular meeting at Manchester, and was received with great eclat. In the evening he attended the theatre, and was the cause of some riotous proceedings.

Prices at Liverpool, Jan 23.—Cotton, per lb. bowed, Georgia, 1s 4d a 1 6; Sea-Island, ordinary and stained, 1 9 a 2 3; mid. g. and fi. 2 6 a 2 8; New-Orleans, 1 4 a 1 7½; Tennessee, 1 2½ a 1 3½; tobacco per lb. THE OPENING OF PARLIMENT.

The first session of the new Parliment was opened on Thursday, by commission. The speech, as our readers will see, after adverting to the continued indisposition of the King, and the decease of her Majesty, states the evacuation of France by the allied armies; the conclusion of the negociations at Aix-la-Chapelle; the intimate union which subsists among the parties to these transactions; the conclusion of a treaty with the United States of America for the renewal of the commercial convention; the reduction of the naval and military establishment; the progressive improvement of the revenue in its most important branches; the conclusion of the war in India; and the flourishing state of the trade, commerce, and manufactures of the country.

London Jan. 21.

This day, at half an hour after two o'clk the lord chancellor entered the house of lords, and proceeded directly to the table, received the oaths as a Peer of Parliament. Soon after the noble lord retired for the purpose of putting on his robes, and returned to the house, accompanied by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the duke of Wellington, the earl of Harrowby, and the earl of Westmorland, who, with the noble and learned lord, acted as the royal commissioners.

The gentleman usher of the black rod was then commanded to require the attendance of the house of commons at the bar, to hear the prince regent's speech read.

The commons soon after appeared at the bar, preceeded by their speaker, when the lord chancellor, on the part of the commissioners, red the following speech:—

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"We are commanded by his royal highness the prince regent to express to you the deep regret which we feel in the continuance of his majesty's lamented indisposition.

"In announcing to you the severe calamity with which it has pleased divine providence to visit the prince regent, the royal family, and the nation, by the death of her majesty the queen of the united kingdom, his royal highness has commanded us to direct your attention to the consideration of such measures as this melancholy event has rendered necessry and expedient with respect to the care of his majesty's sacred person.

"We are directed to inform you, that the negociations which have taken place at Aix-la-Chapelle have led to the evacuation of the french territory by the allied armies.

The Prince Regent has given orders, that the convention concluded for this purpose, as well as the other documents connected with this arrangement, shall be laid before you: and he is persuaded, that you will view with peculiar satisfaction the intimate union which so happily subsists amongst the powers who were parties to these transactions, and the unvaried disposition which has been manifested in all their proceedings for the preservation of the peace and tranquility of Europe.

"The Prince Regent has commanded us further to acquaint you, that a treaty has been concluded between his Royal Highness and the government of the U. States of America, for the renewal, for a further term of years, of the commercial convention now subsisting between the two nations, and for the amicable adjustment of several points of mutual importance to the interests of both countries; and as soon as the ratifications shall have been exchanged, his Royal Highness will give directions that a copy of this treaty shall be laid before you.

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

"The prince Regent has directed that the estimates for the current year shall be laid before you.

"His Royal highness feels assured, that you will learn with satisfaction the extent of reduction which the present situation of Europe, and the circumstances of the British empire, have enabled his royal highness to effect in the naval and military establishments of the country.

"His royal highness has also the gratification of announcing to you, a considerable and progressive improvement of the Revenue in its most important branches.

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"The Prince Regent has directed to be laid before you such papers as are necessary to shew the origin and result of the war in the East Indies.

"His Royal Highness commands us to inform you, that the operations undertaken by the Governor-General in Council against the Pindarries were dictated by the strictest principles of self defence; and that in the extended hostilities which followed upon those operations, the Mahrattah Princes were in every instance the aggressors. Under the provident and skilful superintendence of the Marquis of Hastings, the campaign was marked in every point by brilliant achievements and success; and his Majesty's forces, and those of the East India Company, (Native as well as European,) rivalled each other in sustaining the reputation of the British arms.

"The Prince Regent has the greatest pleasure in being able to inform you, that the trade, commerce, and manufactures of the country are in a most flourishing condition.

"The favorable change which has so rapidly taken place in the internal circumstances of the United Kingdom affords the strongest proof of the solidity of its resources.

"To cultivate and improve the advantages of our present situation will be the object of your deliberations; and his Royal Highness has commanded us to assure you of his disposition to concur and co-operate in whatever may be best calculated to secure to his Majesty's subjects the full benefits of that state of peace which, by the blessing of Providence, has been so happily re-established throughout Europe."

The commons then retired, and the House adjourned till five o'clock.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY, MARCH 15, 1819.

The history of mankind as exhibited in the manners of society, in various ages, nations and stages of civilization, presents a multitude of anomalies so extravagant, and indeed some of them so repugnant to nature, that they appear such downright outrages upon reason as scarcely to be credible, if the facts were not supported by the strongest proof of which any fact or proposition is susceptible. Philosophers have not been inattentive to them; but often contemplating them in the gross, have only considered them as errors arising from the ignorance and stupidity of vulgar minds, benighted by want of culture, and obscured by bad habits and hereditary prejudice. But he who has had the advantage of adding to the acquirements of the man of letters, the experience of the man of the world, and leaves his cloister to mix with mankind in the busy scenes of life, will not be without his suspicions that a very rational account may in most instances be given for those apparent incongruities, and that, as in most cases, where a thing passes for the will of the multitude, they are in reality the will of only some few, perhaps of but one individual, while the people are in reality nothing more than living voluntary puppets, who suffer themselves to be moved by hands hidden by artful scenery and even delight in the skill and dexterity of the master showmen who hold the wires.—Under this management of mankind, it would appear that the human mind itself had its grand revolutions, at different periods; of which a stronger instance cannot be given than the difference which took place in the mode of thinking of the French in the sixteenth and the seventeenth centuries with respect to civil government—but it was not in the minds of the people but in the artful management of them the revolution consisted. In the former century their slavish attachment to a despotism was such that had a free constitution been offered to them, it will not admit of a doubt, that they would not have accepted it; because they had not in reality an opinion that was not prescribed to them, or a will of their own to follow. Other managers, however, gradually slipped into the places of the Gods of their idolatry of that day, and in the next century became the wire workers of their time, and moved those human puppets according to their will and opinions. Such has been the case with other nations, which in respect to their ideas of national felicity, have exhibited a perverseness of intellect and conduct, not to be accounted for, but in the way now alluded to. In the sixteenth century, the people (as it was said) of Denmark, made a voluntary surrender of their liberties to the King, in order to be revenged upon the nobles;—but was it indeed the people? Who that knows what a people, uninstructed, can do, will believe it? No, it was a few dexterous demagogues, who were devoted to the throne. If the boors of Livonia, like the Capadocians of old, refuse a blessing, so obvious even to the brute creation, as liberty, and chuse to be drubbed by their nobility at pleasure, can any one believe that either their free will or their opinions have any agency in it? Certainly not—they have a will and opinion infused into them by those who profit by the error. Stephen Batori, King of Poland, in commiseration of the state of the peasantry of his country, wanted to deliver them from the cruel tyrrany of their nobility, and to commute the bastinadoes into slight fines—the barbarians resented a proposition which tended to deprive them of their own rights to flagellation—but was it their own will or opinion under which they did so—or was it the voluntary free will of the Russian slaves, which raised them almost into an open rebellion against the empress Catherine, for endeavoring to liberate them from their tyrant lords? No—in both cases they adopted as their own, the will of their despotic nobles; and the great and good Alexander is obliged to exert all his talents and address to so far subdue the influence of the old aristocratic tyranny of Russia in the hearts of the people, as to prevail upon them to bear to be as free as their condition will allow them to be.

This cullibillity of masses of population is, I fear, inseparable from the feebleness of human nature—but yet much may be done to counteract its effects. Let all people who wish to be, or continue free, set it down as a maxim never to be lost sight of, to suspect every man they find aiming at the condition of a demagogue, and for that purpose sneaking to them for their favor—and to be assured that as no man of common sense labors without intending to reap profit from his worth, so those demagogues would no more take the vast pains they do to flatter and soothe them, than they would voluntarily give them a week's labor in their fields for nothing; if they did not intend to squeeze from them something in return, and to cheat them for the accomplishment of their own selfish designs.

That esteemed and justly celebrated actress, MRS. BARTLEY, from the London Theatres, will make her first appearance in Alexandria this evening in the arduous character of BELVIDERA, in VENICE PRESERVED.—This tragedy is one of the first in the English language—whether we regard the interest of the plot, the brilliancy of the composition, or the tearful sympathy which we are led to feel throughout every scene. The three principal parts are in skilful hands; and from Mr. Bartley's PIERRE, Mr. Caldwell's JAFFIER, and Mrs. Bartley's BELVIDERA, no audience whatever can fail of deriving both gratification and instruction.

The farce, also, is something more than usual. It is one which requires just such a performer as Mr. Bartley, to give it the interest which the author intended; and instead of being a mere two act piece brought in to complete an entertainment, it will be found to possess an uncommon share of wit, humor, and vivacity.

AN OBSERVER.

We are authorised to state that Cuthbert Powel, Esq. declines being considered a Candidate for the Senate for the next election.

We are authorised to announce William H. Fitzhugh Esq. of Fairfax, as a Candidate for the next Senatorial district, composed at the next election, of the counties of Loudoun, Fairfax, and Fauquir.

50 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, EDMUND, a dark mulatto man, 24 years of age, about 5½ feet high. He has an impediment in his speech; but it is not always observable when he is spoken to.—He is a very delicate looking man, has a small black mark or scar on his face.

He had on when he left me, a blue coat, with gilt buttons; a striped swansdown waistcoat; blue stocking-net pantaloons; and a glazed hat.—And he has a drab colored great coat, with a large single cape, the collar of which is lined with green velvet.

The above mentioned servant was lately purchased by me of Landon Carter, esq. of Richmond county, Virginia; but I have reason to believe that he will be lurking in or about Alexandria, Georgetown or Washington.

The above reward will be paid if delivered to me, provided he is apprehended in Virginia; or 25 dollars if he is secured in jail, so that I get him again; or I will give 100 dollars reward if he is taken out of the state and delivered to me in the city of Richmond.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that Providence, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream having [illegible] for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

BY JOSEPH M. SANDERSON,
for publishing by subscription,
A BIOGRAPHY OF THE SIGNERS
TO THE
Declaration of Independence,
ACCOMPANIED WITH PLATES:

To which will be annexed a history of the proceedings of congress during the passage of the law, and the Declaration itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures.

By PAUL ALLEN, Esq.

TO THE PUBLIC.

IT seems a little surprising that amongst so many subjects as have been presented for American Biography, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to the Declaration of Independence have been overlooked or disregarded. The eyes of thousands have dwelt with rapture upon the document that announced to the world that "these United Colonies were, and of right ought to be, free, sovereign, and independent states;" while we are better acquainted with the handwriting than with the characters of many of those illustrious men who have added their signatures to that instrument. The founders of the only remaining republic on the globe, have, with a few splendid exceptions, gone to their graves, and it behoves a generous posterity, sensible of their obligations, to preserve their fame. The longer we neglect the payment of so sacred a debt, the more difficult does the payment become.—Traits of individual character are fugitive and evanescent; and if they are not snatched by the hand of the Biographic Muse, at an early season, from the cold grasp of death, will soon partake of the oblivion of the body.—It is not the object of the present attempt to deal in that profusion of indiscriminate and unsparing panegyric, so often and so falsely dignified with the name of Biography: we wish to represent the characters as they were; they stand in need of no panegyric; and we earnestly solicit from the surviving relations and friends of those revolutionary patriots all the information that will tend to a developement of character. Man is the creature of circumstance, and we wish to show the progress of those patriots from their first resistance of colonial aggression, until they stood forth the noble and undaunted champions of their country's independence. All this can only be done by a familiar acquaintance with the lives of these men, and whoever of the surviving friends or relatives will furnish facts and circumstances in their possession to unfold and illustrate their characters, shall be entitled to a copy of the work as a recompense. It is contemplated, wherever it is practicable, further to embellish the meditated work with correct likenesses of the subjects of our biography, executed by the most eminent artists in the country. For this purpose we again solicit the assistance of their surviving relatives and friends. If they will transmit to the publisher any engraving or portrait from which a copy may be taken, the original shall be faithfully returned, and shall likewise be remunerated with a copy of the work. In the first number it is proposed to give an account of the Declaration of Independence, from the first motion that was made on the floor of congress until its final passage into a law, a period embracing much curious and secret history: finally, we promise to add to our last number the Declaration of Independence itself, with fac-simile engravings of the signatures. We have now compendiously stated the objects of our present undertaking, and we hope that it will be unnecessary to mention that no exertions on our part shall be spared.

The public are now in possession of our project, which does indeed seem to be demanded, by the avidity so recently displayed for the possession of the Declaration of Independence, since it is of very little import to become acquainted with a man's hand writing without a previous knowledge of the man. The secret history of our Declaration of Independence, the lives of those who have affixed their signatures to that instrument, accompanied by their likenesses, and finally the Declaration itself with fac-similes of the signatures, will bring into one compact view the prominent facts of that interesting crisis.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers, or half volumes, of 150 pages octavo, and will be contained in ten numbers.

II. It will be printed on fine paper made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per half volume or number, payable on delivery.

☞Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Alexandria Gazette.

Exchange Coffee-House, at Havana.

JAMES BRISS, the director of this important mercantile establishment in the great commercial town of the Havana takes this method of informing the Supercargoes, Masters of vessels, and all other persons trading to the above port, that he has opened on the 5th February 1819, under the protection of Royal Tribunal Consulado, and the approbation of his own government, "The New and Elegant Exchange House," on a plan that would do honor to any of the large sea towns of the United States of America. It is intended for the accommodation of merchants, natives and foreigners, and likewise for captains of vessels and strangers, arriving every day in commercial and agricultural pursuits.—The house is situated in an airy part of the town, No. 7, Calle del Obispo, opposite the southern wing of the Governors Palace. The building is commodious having four large rooms elegantly furnished: besides that of the sub-cribers there is one for the use of non-residents. They will find American, English and French newspapers, price currents, pamphlets charts, and maps—lists of vessels arrived those about to sail, and the time of their clearances, and other interesting matter to the commercial world. The proprietor therefore will be extremely happy to see masters of vessels, supercargoes, and passengers soon after their arrival.

In order to render this infant establishment more useful and interesting, the proprietor begs leave to request them to procure several newspapers of the places of their departure—and to report the news they may get on their passages; and at the same time requests them to call one hour before their departure sailing from the above port to procure the shipping list price current, or other news of commercial nature, which the said James Briss will be happy to furnish them with.

It is well to observe that there is a bar room for refreshments, but not billiard tables, or any other kind of amusements are allowed.
March 9.
